Parkland

Aging Out of the Group Health Plan

Options for when your dependent turns 26 & loses group coverage

Parkland employee dependents lose access to group coverage at age 26. If your child is nearing age 26 and needs health insurance, they'll need to enroll in coverage of their own.

Our partnership with VelaPoint, an Allstate company, can make this transition easier.

Scan the QR code to get started online

Need help? Speak with a licensed sales agent:
Call 1-855-909-0181 / TTY 711
Mon-Fri 8am-9pm, Sat 9am-8pm EST

Notice

There's a special enrollment period for major medical coverage when a dependent ages out of a family group health plan. Time limits apply.

Options include:

Major Medical Insurance
Comprehensive benefits that meet Affordable Care Act requirements & accept anyone regardless of health history

Short Term Health Insurance
Temporary, limited benefits that cover acute problems, emergencies & more

Supplemental Insurance
Add-ons to any health insurance plan that offset out-of-pocket costs; options include dental, vision, accident & critical illness

VELAPOINT INSURANCE
an Allstate company

Parkland Health does not underwrite or administer health insurance policies. Their customers interested in health insurance and/or related products will be assisted by licensed insurance agents from VelaPoint, LLC, Health*Compare* Insurance Services, Inc., Allstate Health Solutions or its affiliates.